Such mellowness comes out from treble distillation and maturing in sherry casks and BOOTH'S DRY is the only GIN which receives such care in its making. ## London Air-Mail Letter

Lord Lloyd at Portsmouth: Discussion on Judges Salaries in Lords: Samuel Pepys and the Guildhall Banquet: Lord Halifax Scorns Taxes: Romney Portrait at Nice:

Special Air-Mail Service

London, November 15.

LORD LLOYD

In a recent speech at Portsmouth, Lord Lloyd revealed—as I suggested he would do—a significant change in his attitude towards the National Government. Previously his principal criticisms have been confined to the Indian problem. He has now made it clear that he sees very little good either in the policy or composition of the National Government. The critic has turned opponent. I learn that in the near future he intends to make a bold bid to obtain Conservative support for a move to discard the Liberal Nationalists and National Socialists, and adopt a new programme. For this purpose offices have been taken in St. Stephen's House, Westminster. From these headquarters the generalissimo will plan and conduct his projected flanking manoeuvres, which will be described as a "forward progressive movement."

POSSIBLE SUPPORTERS

It is not known in exactly what quarter of the party Lord Lloyd expects to find allies in his campaign. It is probable that he hopes to gain support from those who have been prominent in the activities of the India Defence League. A few preliminary rockets may be released at any moment. But the first salvo is not likely to be fired before Nov. 21, when Lord Lloyd is to speak at the "English Review" dinner.

LORD HALIFAX

Viscount Halifax, who has so dramatically brought to an end his presidency of the English Church Union, to which he was first elected sixty-five years ago, is still extraordinarily vigorous and forceful. Despite his 94 years he is scornful of people who take taxis on small provocation. He also stands firmly by the merits of his famous Hickleton home-brewed ale as a contributory cause, at least, of his longevity.

By a coincidence the book of reminiscences which his sister-in-law, Lady Mary Meynell, publishes this morning, contains a photograph of Lord Halifax—in hunting pink—at a meet of foxhounds. It was taken last season.

JUDGES' SALARIES

As long ago as August, 1921, the Attorney-General of the day stated in the House of Commons that an increase in the salaries of the judges of the High Court had been under consideration for some time. Nothing has been done, and this afternoon a motion on judges' salaries is down for discussion in the House of Lords.

It is not generally known that the salary of a High Court judge has remained practically unchanged for more than a hundred years. During the reign of George III the salaries of the "pulsed" judges and Barons of the Exchequer were gradually raised from £2,600 to £4,000, in recognition of the high cost of living consequent on the Napoleonic wars.

TOWER HILL BEAUTIFIED

In times past Tower Hill has known the tumult, the shout, and the sudden hush—"This is the head of a traitor!" It was London's public execution ground, and the hill was always a neglected, desolate, somewhat unsightly place—characteristics it preserves to this day. The padre of Toc H ("Tubby" Clayton, who is Vicar of Allhallows Barking Church) has a vision of the hill with the present hideous warehouse black and orators' forum giving place to a public garden. A similar garden in a clearance towards Little Trinity-hill would open out an unseen and unexpected length of the Roman city wall.

PRINCE AND THE GONG

The Prince of Wales had, I hear, a minute as toast-master at the Art-and-Industry Dinner of the Society of Arts on Tuesday evening. It happened thus:

The signal for each new toast was given by a stroke on a gong, which had a quite musical note. The officer who stood behind the chairman and discharged this duty happened, on one occasion, to be elsewhere.

Noticing this, the Prince of Wales turned round in his seat and gave it a good stroke. As he did so he smiled, and the company, so called to attention, laughed and cheered.

ENGLISH ART AT NICE

The Directeur des Musées de Nice writes to tell me of his delight at Lord Duveen's loan of a magnificent Romney portrait of Lady Hamilton to the exhibition which is being organised at Nice next spring.

This exhibition will include only pictures and works of art of the English school between 1750—when the English "discovered" Nice—and 1900.

The French National Museums, among others the Louvre and Compègne, are lending their treasures. But by far the greater number of miniatures, books, and family portraits are being sent by the descendants of those beauties, dandies and bloods who frequented Nice in the early 19th century.

MUSIC CLUB'S PRESIDENT

Sir Thomas Beecham has taken over the presidency of the Music Club, left vacant by Mr. Alfred Kalisch's death. The first meeting of the season, on Sunday night, at the May Fair Hotel, promises to be brilliant.

The new president is bringing with him a section of the Philharmonic Orchestra, and the company will be regaled with performances of music by Handel, Beethoven, Rossini, and Delius.

The Music Club's Sunday night meetings have been famous for years as affording greater social facilities than formal concerts do. The music performed is always first-rate.

The meetings are also designed to introduce foreign celebrities to the London musical world.

MR. BINGHAM'S OVATION

Mr. Bingham, the American Ambassador, was the recipient of a remarkable ovation at the Lord Mayor's banquet, as tall and smiling, he walked the length of the fine old library of Guildhall to be received by the new Lord Mayor.

When he afterwards took his place among his colleagues, and the members of the Cabinet, on the right of the Lord Mayor's dais, to watch later arrivals, Mr. Bingham found himself behind the broad back of Sir Archibald Monckton-Massingberd, chief of the Imperial General Staff. He quickly made his way to a better vantage point for surveying the brilliant scene.

Another distinguished figure was that of the German Ambassador, who was talking with animation to Mr. Baldwin.

Among all the notabilities present it seemed to me that the warmest cheers were reserved for Mr. Baldwin, the Bishop of London, and the late Lord Mayor, Sir Percy Greenaway.

270 YEARS AGO

Two hundred and seventy years ago the Lord Mayor's banquet was a very different affair from that held last night. Samuel Pepys gives us an illuminating account of one which began at one o'clock, a salt cellar being placed in front of every guest.

The diarist sat at the merchant-strangers' table, where there were "ten good dishes to a mess, with

BRITAIN & THE FREE STATE

Mr. Thomas To Make Important Statement

London, Nov. 4.

Great importance is attached by both Great Britain and the Irish Free State to a statement to be made by the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas to-morrow, regarding the future relations between the Free State and the British Empire.

Since Mr. Thomas, on November 14 defined the attitude of the British Government to the constitutional legislation then before the Free State Parliament.

The President of the Free State, Mr. Eamon De Valera has been in communication with the British Government and has asked for an elucidation of certain passages.

Mr. De Valera asked whether the Free State was free to choose without pressure or threat of aggressive hostility from the British Government, between membership of the British Commonwealth and a Republic.

The British Government regards the three Bills recently passed in the Free State Parliament as a clear indication of the intention to gradually eliminate the Crown from the Constitution.

It is realised that the elimination of the Crown would definitely place the Free State outside the Commonwealth.

What binds members of the Commonwealth together is a common allegiance to the King. This was made clear in the preamble to the Statute of Westminster, which says, "The Crown is the symbol of free association of the members of the British Commonwealth of nations. They are united by common allegiance to the Crown."—Reuter.

THE AUSTIN-HAYES SELF-SELECTOR

An. Infinitely Variable Transmission

Not since my first trial of the Wilson gear-box, with or without the Daimler fluid flywheel, have I been so deeply interested in the showing of a new device for the elimination of the traditional gear-change as when I drove a car fitted with the Hayes "Self-selector" transmission last week.

The Austin company have decided to fit this American invention to their 16-h.p. models for an extra charge of £40, and I doubt if any manufacturer has ever made a more interesting choice of "modern" gear—assuming, of course, that it turns out to be trustworthy in service.

I can only judge of its merits from a drive over one of the Observer trial routes, and the circumstances were by no means ideal. The car with which the test was carried out was a last year's full-sized Austin Sixteen saloon, with an engine in need of decarbonisation. As a matter of fact, I preferred things so, as I was better able to judge of the difference the self-selector made to the usual performance of this, to me very familiar, model.

It would be impossible without drawings and in the space available to give a technical description of the remarkably interesting invention, and as it is the performance in which the owner-driver is interested rather than the design and construction of an unfamiliar type, it will perhaps suffice if I quote from the Austin company's specification:—

CONSTANT ENGINE SPEED

"The actual transmission is through steel rollers, which transfer the drive between curved steel races, the ratio being altered by rocking the rollers to different driving positions. There are no gears (except to provide reverse), and the drive is practically silent. Further, the variation in ratio, from 4 to 1 (on top) to an overgear of 1.17, is far greater than is provided in any normal transmission employing toothed gears." "Subject to the [hydraulic] control setting, the automatic functioning ensures a constant engine speed whatever the tractive resistance met with on the road, the transmission varying its ratio to balance the resistance as it decreases or increases."

This simply means that the Austin 16 h.p. has an infinitely variable gear, which automatically adapts itself to the needs of the engine. Once you have started, from rest the car anywhere as the accelerator-pedal and the brake. It is not correct to say that there is no gear used at all, as there is a lever, in this introductory model an ordinary gear-box lever, by which the transmission is shifted from the neutral to the driving position, and with which the reverse gear is engaged. As you let in the clutch and the car moves smoothly off the transmission does what is necessary to keep the car going in an efficient manner. Nor is that a complete description in reality. For the final ratio can be changed at will by one finger-tip lever and the engine speed raised, without alteration of the throttle-position determined by the driver's foot, by another.

UNLIMITED SPEEDS

You have thus a drive which corresponds to a gear-box with an unlimited number of speeds, beginning with a mountaineering ratio of over 30 to 1 and ending with one that is nearly direct. When the levers are set for open level country the engine is turning over only a very little faster than the back wheels, which means that you have the sensation of coasting combined with a high road speed.

Set the ratio-lever or the engine-control-lever a little back and you have a gear that will take the car up anything on which the wheels will grip, and very lively acceleration. The moving of these levers calls for the same exertion as the moving of throttle and ignition levers—in fact, in this car the latter had been adapted for the purpose. It takes time to get accustomed to this invention, to use it to the best advantage, but I can think of nothing ever invented for motor-cars quite so absorbing. It has so many possibilities.

For the driver who wishes to think of nothing but steering and stopping, going fast and slow, it is admirable. All he has to think of is the accelerator-pedal. The car will automatically keep itself in the right "gear," up hill and on the level. After a fast run, slowing down to a foot's pace and suddenly called upon to climb a stiff gradient, he need do nothing but open the throttle. The transmission has already "geared down" to the point where, on the speeding-up of the engine, the pace of the car accelerates.

DELIGHTFUL FEATURES

That is one of the most delightful features—that, as the engine is always running at an efficient speed, the tendency is for the car, on a steady gradient, to go faster, or, at worst, not to slow down. For the driver, who likes something to do there is a great deal, if he wants to get the best out of the car. By skilful manipulation of those two finger-tip levers on the top of the steering-wheel he can drive half a dozen different sorts of cars in as many minutes, high-gear, low-gear, normally-gear, in every degree. He can produce, as by enchantment, noticeable acceleration from low speeds, an ability peculiarly valuable in traffic; and as the open road straightens before him and the car gets a good swing on her, he can reduce the engine-speed at, say, fifty miles an hour, to a figure I do not like to quote just now.

One special attraction, to me at all events, is the quite inexplicable leap forward the car gives when the ratio or the engine-control is raised after a momentary drop. You "change down," with the lever, on a steep hill in order to overtake something, let us say. On passing it you "change up," regardless of the gradient or, within limits, the speed of the car. At once the speedometer needle moves up. I cannot imagine why it does this, but it is very inspiring. I have never felt anything like it in motoring before. I took the car up Westernham Hill, and on the standard-test section the speed, by indicator, was 25-26 miles an hour, the time for the climb 70 seconds. All the way up I could feel the car gaining automatically—a most unusual sensation. I should add that the only noise you hear is that made by the engine, and that you only take your foot off the accelerator when you want to stop. So far as the driver is concerned this is the simplest transmission I have tried so far, the simplest and the most entertaining.

MODERN CAR VALUES

Vauxhall Light Six.

The Vauxhall Light Six, which was introduced in the middle of the summer, has proved highly successful and more than ordinary interest is being shown in the latest product of the Luton factory, the Big Six, with a 20 or 27 h.p. engine. A very practical feature of this model is the automatic lubrication system of the chassis actuated by engine suction.

The long wheelbase model shown at Olympia carried a very handsome 4-seater Grosvenor limousine body, priced at the very low figure of £550 complete. With the deep, back-seat tail so fashionable to-day, the problem of "locking" is often a serious one, but in this instance it had very simply been solved by adding extensions to the rear dumpings.

The truly amazing value for money of the modern car is well exemplified in the largest of the Standard range, the Twenty, which sells as a 7-seater saloon at £395. This even includes such luxuries as folding tables, two spare wheels and permanent jacks of the D.W.S. type.

The Twenty engine develops 30

SERVICE STATIONS NEW DEVELOPMENT

Cleaning Lubricating Oil

Since it is now generally recognised that lubricating oil of good original quality can be cleaned after use and utilised again, considerable interest is being displayed in the methods available for effecting this recovery.

In the garage and equipment section, at Olympia, the Hammond Pump people, of Acton, who are well known as manufacturers of petrol and oil pumps and service station plant, were showing an oil recovery plant operating on a totally new principle. In this type no heating is required, nor is there any moving part in the apparatus at all. In operation all that is necessary is to pour the dirty oil into the apparatus and a continuous supply of clean oil is drawn off.

The equipment is very easily cleaned and costs practically nothing in upkeep owing to there being no moving parts.

h.p. at 3,800 r.p.m. and the maximum speed is about 70 m.p.h.

MOTOR JOTTINGS

USEFUL POWER UNITS

Britannia "Middy" For Small Craft

For use in such small craft as dinghies, canoes, punts and yacht's-tenders, the essential feature of an inboard motor is compactness, and an outstanding example of this was to be seen in the Marine Section at the recent Motor Show at Olympia, London, on the stand of the British Motor Boat Manufacturing Co. Ltd. of expert is the presiding genius.

The Britannia "Middy" as this little motor is styled, possesses a number of very interesting features. For instance, the whole unit, including the underwater fittings, can be removed from the boat in 3 minutes, merely by unscrewing six wing nuts, while it can be installed anywhere in the boat. The steering wheel column is geared to the underwater housing which rotates while the main unit remains rigid. The "Middy" powered boat can be turned in its own length, instantly reversed, and held dead still against a landing stage with just a turn of the wheel.

This useful little 4 h.p. twin engine sells at home at the low price of £35, complete with all fittings necessary to instal in an ordinary dinghy.

Another well-known product of this firm is the Britannia outboard motor. This little twin cylinder engine, which is very quiet in operation, has been found particularly valuable from a utility point of view, and during the past twelve months has been sent out to no less than fifty different countries. The engine is easily portable and is very light in weight. At 3000 R.P.M. it develops 4 h.p. and can drive a substantial dinghy at a speed of 7 m.p.h., or a light boat of good lines at 10 m.p.h. It sells in England at the remarkably low price, of £25 complete.

SINGER NINE'S PERFORMANCE

Excellent Showing in R.A.C. Rally

The Singer Nine has put up consistently fine achievements in races and reliability trials at home and overseas, during 1933, including the Twenty-four Hours Race at Le Mans, the Monte Carlo Rally and the R.A.C. Rally.

To this important list must be added the International Alpine Six Days Trial, rightly regarded as the world's most gruelling long distance reliability trial, held over the highest mountain passes in Europe. In this, the complete Singer Nine team finished intact with no less of marks on reliability or condition at finish, and gained second place in cars up to 1,100 c.c. The team maintained the required average of 26 m.p.h. in the road section over the Alpine passes. None of the cars, which were ordinary production models, selling at popular prices, suffered from over-heating trouble.

SPORTS CAR POPULARITY

Finger Print Proofs

The enormous interest shown in the small sports car was convincingly demonstrated in an ingenious fashion at Olympia with the assistance of a finger-print expert.

It was arranged that one of the popular models, the Le Mans Singer, should remain on the stand during the whole of one day without being polished or dusted. An ex-detective inspector then dusted the car with special substance employed for bringing up finger prints and revealed the prints of

MANUFACTURER'S ADVICE TO MOTORISTS

More Attention Should Be Paid To Manual Instructions

It is really surprising that so many motorists fail to observe the injunctions issued by the makers of their cars on various matters concerned with adjustment and upkeep.

Surely they must realise that the instructions and advice given in the manual that accompanies every new car have been written for their benefit and are based upon the results of lengthy and careful tests and experiments, followed by experience on the road the factory. And yet I am constantly hearing of troubles and difficulties arising solely from failure to follow the advice that is given. Is it that buyers of cars do not trouble to read what has been written? That appears to be the only possible reason, and a bad one at that, why the injunctions are not observed.

Among the points in mind are the following:—Frequent and regular replenishment of engine oil, draining the crankcase and refilling it with fresh oil; cleaning the oil filter; testing of tyre pressures; checking of valve clearances; inspection of wheel fixings; grades of oil to use in engine, gear-box and rear axle; use of the correct fluid in hydraulically operated brakes; replenishment of the battery with distilled water, and occasional examination of the front wheels to check the alignment.

ENGINE OIL REPLENISHMENT

As regards engine oil replenishment, it should be borne in mind that if the level of the oil is allowed to fall until replenishment becomes urgent owing to the danger line being reached or approached, the comparatively small and decreasing volume of oil in circulation attains far higher temperatures in running than would otherwise be the case.

Oil at high temperature loses a considerable proportion of its lubricating properties, implying loss of power arising from unnecessary friction, and consequent increase of petrol consumption, and unduly rapid wear of internal parts of the engine. Then, too, oil that is merely replenished from time to time and not drained off and renewed accumulates impurities—such as minute particles of metal, water, and road dust—that still further increase the rate of wear.

Cleaning the filter regularly ensures that oil at full pressure shall reach the various bearings and prevents the circulation from falling gradually or suddenly without the driver being aware of the fact; it is, therefore, a safeguard against engine seizure and sudden bearing troubles.

Testing and restoring tyre pressures—weekly or so—not only prolongs the life of the tyres, but ensures the utmost tractive efficiency, which infers no waste of petrol on this account, easier steering, and the best possible performance in general; additionally, correct tyre pressures tend to prevent skidding. Checking valve clearances prevents the trouble and expense to which an acquaintance of the writer was put recently; an exhaust valve lost its clearance and burnt out during the course of a long run.

WHEELS AND BRAKES

Wheel-fixing nuts do not often come loose, but there is no guarantee that they will not do so if they are neglected indefinitely.

In regard to the fluid for hydraulic brakes, the use of other than the variety supplied by the brake manufacturers may lead to deterioration and sudden failure of the hydraulic mechanism; three or four cases of this kind of loss are within the writer's knowledge. Neglect to replenish the battery with distilled water accounts for a large proportion of the complaints one hears concerning inefficient engine starters and had lighting. And then there is the checking of front wheel alignment. More miles in tyre life are lost by neglect of this form of attention than any other, except running with tyres under-inflated.

Study your instruction manuals in advance the writer would give in conclusion. And not only study them, carefully follow the advice they give in every particular.

FOR THE "WATER MOTORIST"

Thornycroft Cruiser On Exhibition

Some of the exhibits in the Motor Boat and Marine Section of the motor Show were of such dimensions that it seemed impossible that they should have arrived there by road. There was, for instance, a fine cabin cruiser on the Thornycroft stand, 35 ft. long by 9 ft. beam, but looking even larger in the Grand Hall at Olympia. This is powered by two of the maker's 4-cylinder engines, giving a speed of 9 m.p.h.

The accommodation comprises a fore cabin with built-in berths, a saloon with settees and fold-down sleeping berths, side-board, wardrobe etc. Amidships, there is a cockpit with shelter and engine space below, a lavatory and galley. At again, there is a 2-berth sleeping cabin complete with dressing table. This floating home was priced at £1,350.

An alliance between road and water was to be seen in the Brooke-A.E.C. marine motor in which the Lowestoft firm is collaborating with the A.E.C. of Southall, the builders of London's buses. The model in question is the 6-cylinder 130 h.p. high-speed oil engine, which, although displacing only slightly from the standard type, is being developed in this case purely for marine work. It will be distributed primarily through the Brooke Marine Motors' organisation, although sales will also be effected by the A.E.C. concern.

no less than 982 different people. In some places there were many superimposed prints, so that it is likely that a greater number actually touched the car. The prints were found on the gear and brake levers, the bonnet, doors, wheel, dashboard and instruments.

CONTRACT OF TEN BUSES FOR CITY OF HYDERABAD

Placed By H.E.H. The Nizam's State
Railway

One of the most interesting of the numerous overseas orders recently completed by Leyland Motors, Ltd., is that for 10 special Lion single-decked buses, placed by H.E.H. The Nizam's State Railway, in that it provides an interesting contrast between the traffic requirements of the East and the West.

These vehicles are required for suburban services in the City of Hyderabad (Deccan), India, and although the City is 2,000 feet above sea level, tropical conditions prevail, the shade temperature frequently exceeding 100 deg., whilst severe tropical storms are not unusual.

It will be realised that, in order to operate successfully under these conditions, the buses had to be modified considerably from standard British practice, the bodies, especially, being of a new and interesting design.

Leyland Motors, Ltd., has had considerable experience in the production of vehicles for operation in hot climates and was, without difficulty, able to supply chassis to suit this particular order. These chassis are fitted with the new power-headed four-cylinder engine, which is flexibly mounted in the chassis in such a way that it is difficult to tell from its running that it is not a six-cylinder unit, so smooth and vibrationless is its performance. The engine is governed to the equivalent of a maximum top-gear road speed of 32 m.p.h. Local conditions call for a vehicle not exceeding 7 ft. 4 ins. in width and, therefore, both front and rear axle units had to be suitably modified and single-tyre equipment fitted. Beyond these alterations, with the exception of the usual items always fitted to a Leyland chassis for the East, such as a tropical radiator, etc., there is little of note in the chassis and it is generally in accordance with English ideas.

SHANGHAI-CANTON AIR SERVICE

Second Plane Arrives Safely In South

Shanghai, Nov. 29. Undaunted by last Friday's crash involving the China National Aviation Corporation's first passenger aeroplane from Shanghai to Canton, the second passenger plane of the Corporation took off from the Lungshu Flying Field at 6.17 a.m. yesterday and, after stops at Wenchow, Foochow, Amoy and Swatow, safely arrived at Canton at 3.55 p.m. yesterday, about half an hour ahead of the scheduled time of arrival owing to a favourable wind.

The second passenger plane to Canton carried a full list of passengers and about 40 kilograms of mails. The passengers were, from Shanghai to Foochow, Mr. G. J. Yorke, newspaper correspondent, Mr. Randall Gould, also a newspaperman, and three Chinese merchants, Messrs. T. S. Liu, Y. S. Liu, and Lee; and from Shanghai to Canton, Mr. L. S. Gilman, newspaperman, and Mr. Tseng, merchant. The plane was piloted by Mr. Gast assisted by co-pilot Mr. Woods.

Radio messages received by the Corporation's local office reported that the plane arrived at Wenchow at 8.30 a.m. and Foochow at 10.12 a.m. Leaving Foochow at 10.38 a.m., the plane landed at Amoy at 12.02 p.m. and left there at 12.27 p.m., arriving at Canton at 3.55 p.m. after stopping at Swatow. Already a full list of passengers have booked their passages from the southern port to Shanghai on the same passenger plane which will start its return trip at 9 a.m. today. After spending the night at Foochow, the plane is scheduled to arrive in Shanghai to-morrow afternoon.

TRAVELLED 127 MILES AN HOUR

Foochow, Nov. 29. The new Sikorsky twin-engine flying-boat, which left Shanghai at six o'clock this morning to inaugurate a passenger service to Canton, arrived safely at Foochow at 10.30 a.m., slightly ahead of time.

The plane, which carried five newspapermen and two merchants, travelled at an average speed of 127 miles an hour. The machine was piloted by Mr. R. H. Gast, assisted by Mr. A. L. Woods.

An amusing contrast was provided at Wenchow, where Customs officials rowed round the plane in an old style six-oared gig. No blockading warships or mines were visible in the Min River from the air. There are also no signs of warfare or revolt in Foochow, where martial law was rescinded this morning, while the flag of the People's Revolutionary Government is no longer flown from shops. Passants are unconcernedly picking their oranges.—Reuter.

REDS IN KIANGSI

Bogus 5th Regiment
Routed

Canton, Dec. 2. A military report received here yesterday from Lieutenant General Wong Yin-ching, commander of the 7th division of the first group army in which he reported that on November 20th, bogus 5th regiment were found stationed at Hon Shan in east Kiangsi and General Wong made a fierce attack and killed over hundred Reds. Many arms were captured.

Another report from Kiangsi stated that the bogus first, third, fifth and seventh army are now in very poor shape due to the recent suppression of the joint central and Kwangtung army and they are now leaving the Reds to come to the government side.

It is learned that over three thousand Red soldiers have left Singkuo, the Communist headquarters, to join the government army at Wen An in northern Kiangsi.

Although the Fukien new government has made connection with the Reds and supplied them with some food and arms, it will not affect to any extent the suppression work as a whole for only a small number of Reds are now in Fukien and most of the others are in Kiangsi under the encircling movement of the Kwangtung army of the south route.—Central Press.

GUNBOATS FOR YANGTZE

New "Robin" Will Soon Be Shipped

The new gunboat Robin is shortly to be shipped in sections to Shanghai, where she will be re-erected and commissioned for service. The Robin, which was laid down on April 8 last by Messrs. Yarrow and Co at their Scotstoun works, is the seventh river gunboat to be built since the War. The Sandpiper, ordered a year earlier from Messrs. Thornycroft and Co., Woolston, was shipped to Shanghai in the spring, and commissioned in August. She is now serving in the Yangtze Flotilla, and was last reported at Changsha. The Sandpiper has been specially designed for service in the lakes during the low water season.

The completion of the Sandpiper enabled the last of the pre-war gunboats, H.M.S. Moorhen, to be paid off into dockyard control at Hong Kong. The Moorhen had been in service for 32 years. The Yangtze Flotilla at present consists of eight of the War-built gunboats of the "Insect" class, of which the Bee serves as flagship of the Rear-Admiral; and five of the post-war gunboats, the Falcon, Gannet, Petrel, Sandpiper, and Tern. In the West River there is one of the new gunboats, H.M.S. Seamew. War-built class, the Tarantula, Cicada, and Moth

SWATOW NOTES

More Taxes Imposed

MERCHANTS' PROTEST

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Swatow, Nov. 29. More and more taxes are being imposed each day to add to the disgust and inconvenience of the merchants generally. Some ten to twenty taxes on various lines have already been imposed, the second but last having taken effect from 1st November and that is on oil. Foreign oil pays a heavy tax of $3.00 per case of two tins against $1.50 on Chinese products for the same quantity. The pinch is sharp, but where is the kick? One wonders if the Japanese will care to pay if called upon to do so, but then they are not concerned in the oil trade. However, none of the other local taxes are recognized by the Japanese Government, so that the refusal at times causes small incidents between Japanese nationals and the tax-officers, and each time an incident takes place the treaty question is at once brought forward by the Consul.

The latest tax now being imposed on the unfortunate merchants is that on Berlin wool which pays T.3 for every T.100 worth. The import came off all of a sudden the other day without any public proclamation, and a few shipments were detained by the Piecegoods Tax Office for failing to report. Release was effected after paying the required tax. This P.T.O. has no authority from the Department of Finance in Canton to include Berlin wool in the list, but tried to do so to make up in some way for the loss suffered in the collections so far.

I understand a protest has been voiced by the wool merchants who will dispatch a representative to Canton to take the matter up there.

NEW MINISTER'S PLANS

Mr. Cadogan Due On
P.&O. "Chitral"

Chitral to assume his new post. Accompanied by Mrs. Cadogan and their children, the new Minister will arrive in Shanghai on February 23.

Interviewed by a correspondent to-day, Mr. Cadogan gave a brief outline of his immediate plans on arriving in China. He stated he will make a short stay in Shanghai and will then proceed to Nanking. After his visit to the capital, he will return to Shanghai and then proceed to Peking.

Mr. Cadogan added that he was anticipating his new post with the keenest interest. Before leaving London, the new Minister will be guest of honour at a dinner by the China Association on December 13.

Goldwyn picture starring Ronald Colman comes to the Oriental among the people sentenced to terms in the famous French penal colony, Devil's Island, off the coast of South America. It has been authenticated in every way known to man during production.Ronald Colman's role, that of the dashing, debonair young thief who falls in love with the warden's mistreated wife, is taken from life.

This character formed the central
"Condemned to Devil's Island," from which the picture was adapted, and the original of this character is now living in his

"Condemned"TRICK FOR TRICKRalph Morgan's
Fine ActingAn actor gives a performance on the screen superior to that of the stage, according to Ralph Morgan, distinguished stage star who appears in "Trick for Trick," under the direction of Hamilton MacFadden for Fox Film. The production comes on Wednesday to the King's Theatre."Constant repetition of the same action and the same lines invariably leads to staleness," explained Morgan. "After the first few performances, one becomes mechanical, mannerisms are exaggerated, and the performer over-acts without consciously realizing his defection from the interpretation his director desired.""On the other hand the screen captures one's best performance," continued Morgan. "From the time that performance is imprinted on the film it remains eternally and immutably fresh and true."Morgan confessed he had gone stale in every part he played on the stage except one, that of Charlie in "Strange Interlude."
"Fortunately, I usually realize it and retire from the cast. But how many actors do and will leave a role for that reason?"Morgan said he always tried to limit his stage engagements to a year. "That enabled me to retain some degree of versatility and freshness," he explained. "On the screen, however, I have no such worry, for every few months I have a different role calling for a different interpretation."He pointed out that in "Trick for Trick" he is virtually a leading man. In "Humanity," he was an elderly father, and in
"Strange Interlude" the good old Charlie all entirely different roles.
"And I'll be seen next as a meek clerk in 'The Power and the Glorious.' Certainly, there's no chance to go stale playing such a variety of roles."Not content with so lauding the screen, Morgan advanced another tribute to motion picture acting. "The screen is reality," said Morgan, "the stage gives only the semblances of reality.
The difference in mediums is the explanation.""In a theatre an actor must necessarily exaggerate expressions and emotions. This is necessary in order to convey that feeling to the last row in the balcony as well as the front row in the orchestra. That makes for uneven-ness of performance. But on the screen one may act naturally, just as he would in real life because the camera catches the tiniest shade of expression."the swamps and forests of the mainland. All the bamboo and elephants' ears in Los Angeles were commander for this set, which also included an artificial river, life-size, running 200,000 gallons of water every 24 hours.Even the French government extended its official co-operation to the Goldwyn production executives in making the picture, following up their courtesy in allowing Mrs.
Niles to visit the island two years

MARIAN NIXON"NIGHT OF THE

CentralSydney Howard gives what must be considered the greatest performance of his career in the part of Bodger, the sublimely dignified batter of "Night of the Garter."His comedy style is deliberate and unforged. His laughs are derived not from slick turns or speed or breath-taking escapades, but from the gradual and inevitable building up of a truly comic character contrasted against a serious background.The brilliant humour of "Night of the Garter" arises from the fact that this Bodger is placed in a situation where everything that ought not to happen does happen, where seven people suddenly seem to take complete leave of their senses and act in a way quite foreign to all his previous experience.As husbands and wives get more inextricably mixed, and even a middle-aged cook is drawn into the vortex, Bodger feels that the world is falling about his ears.
Yet, with all the moral standards of conduct gone by the board, Bodger is intent on clinging to the last to the canons of discretion.
Therein lies the fun.Howard is supported by an all-star cast. Winifred Shotter and Elsie Randolph play leading parts, and they have whole-hearted assistance from Harold French,
Connie Ediss, Marjorie Brooks,
Austin Melford and Jack Melford.
The slick direction is credit to Jack Raymond, who has been in charge of many of Sydney Howard's former successes, including "Splinters," "Up for the Cup," and "It's a King.""THE STRANGER'S RETURN"Lionel Barrymore
At The Queen'sWith Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins heading an impressive cast, "The Stranger's Return," showing to-day at the Queen's.Adapted from the new novel of rural life by Phil Strong, author of "State Fair," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture achieves a greatness in performance and directional distinction, as well as sheer pictorial beauty. (Kind Vidor directed this film and adds another superb effort to his long list of screen accomplishments.)Francot Tone, hailed as the screen's newest romantic hero, fits easily into the role of the farm lover and paired with Miss Hopkins, leaves nothing to be desired by way of interest in this motiva-tional theme. Barrymore is the 80-year-old patriarch of the farm who refuses to die until he sees his farm, destined for sympathetic hands.Most of the picture was filmed on a farm location that brings the barnyard right to the childhood memories of all of us. Vidor, in his superb camera treatment, has captured the earthy charm of the broccoli setting, against which the tense drama of the story unfolds.
It is easily among the finest pictures of the year, and the splendid performances of the stars and cast will long live in the memories of theatregoers.Included in the cast are Stuart
Erwin, Irene Hervey, Baulah

The King'sThe opening of "Pilgrimage" at the King's Theatre to-day marked the introduction of one of the most completely beautiful productions of recent months. The story is the simple one of a mother who runs through the gamut of emotions as she breaks up one young romance and subsequently cements another. She sends her only son to war and to his death in order to keep him from marrying the girl he loves. She is willing to sacrifice him—the mainstay of her life—for if she cannot have him all to herself, she will not share his affections.The years that pass fall to heal the wound she has inflicted on herself. But she stoically accepts it as one of the vagaries of motherhood. It is not until she is made witness to another youthful romance, about to be blasted by the selfishness of a mother, that she wakes to the truth.In the role of the mother, Henrietta Crossman gives a superb performance. She brings every ounce of her many years of experience on both the stage and the screen to her characterization. Heather Angel, a beautiful newcomer to the American screen, makes a highly auspicious beginning in the role of the young lovers. Norman Foster and Marian Nixon are understanding and attractive in the romance that opens the story.A number of screen stars of the past have been cast in "Pilgrimage," and their choice has been a happy one. Charles Grapewin, Robert Warwick, Louise Carter and Betty Blythe are among them. But special honours must go to the indomitable Lucille La Verne for a performance that will remain unforgettable. Others in the excellent cast are Maurice Murphy,
Hedda Hopper, Francis Ford, Jay
Ward and Frances Rich.The direction of John Ford reveals a complete knowledge of and respect for the grand story by I. A. R. Wylie.

Jungle"Kongo" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of mystery and thrills in the African jungle, opens on Friday at the Queen's Theatre. As "Deadlegs" Flint, Walter Huston, in the featured role reenacts the part he first created in scoring one of his biggest New York stage successes.
Black Magic a terrifying plot for revenge, the resentment of the warlike Congo blacks against the cruel domination of a white master, and the fight of the white race against the jungle lure, form the admixture from which this strange melodrama was evolved.KEEPS NATIVES UNDER SPELLAs "Deadlegs" Walter Huston enacts his powerful role from a wheelchair, bullwhip in hand, driving whites and blacks before the crack of his lash. He wields the tricks of magic which keep the superstitious blacks under his spell and concocts the scheme which is to trap his rival and send a white girl out to be hurled into the swamps by the natives—a diabolical scheme of vengeance.Virginia Bruce, who recently became the wife of John Gilbert, is the white girl to be sacrificed.
Conrad Nagel is the derelict Englishman, a doctor, who seeks to save her. Between these two falls the romance that contrasts with the powerful melodrama of Huston's role.Lupe Velez, as the Portuguese girl who is the slave of the paralyzed white "witch doctor's" whims, has the type of role at which she excels. C. Henry Gordon, who was so forceful in trapping Greta Garbo in "Mata Hari," has a robust dramatic role in "Kongo." William Cowen directed the production from Leon Gordon's adaptation of the play which Chester De-Vonde and Kilbourn Gordon wrote for the stage.All the action of "Kongo" takes place in the swamp and fever infested jungles of interior Africa.
A large expanse of jungle, with trading post and a stockade, and a river winding through, was built for the production. Hundreds of blacks in the grotesque paint and traditional adornments of the superstitious African natives, take part. The cunning of the whites in holding them in subjection through their fear of "ju-ju" or voodoo magic, is vividly shown."RANJIT'S HOME AT STAINES SOLD"London, November 15.
Jannagar House at Staines, the riverside home of the late Maharaja Jam Sahib of Nawanagar (Prince Ranjitsinhji) has now been sold by private treaty. At the auction held on Oct. 17 the property, with 10 acres, which "Ranjit" bought in 1913 from the late Sir Edward Clarke, K.C., and which cost him over £30,000, was withdrawn at the highest bid of £12,500—a sum below the reserve.It is understood that the estate has gone to two buyers. One has secured the prominent riverside residence with grounds of just under eight acres on both sides of the Thames, another taking the building land and modern cottages in Penton-road, Staines.
Knight, Frank, and Rutley (Ban-

Daily Telegraph" on Wednesday of

ECHOES OF 1859

60-Typhoon Visits The Colony

(17th August, 1859)

On Monday night we were visited by one of those scourges which was omitted in the plagues inflicted on Egypt by Moses—we mean a typhoon. The temperature on Sunday night became suddenly depressed, and the vessels arriving from the North reported a wonderfully heavy sea outside. The wind for several days previously came from the North, and the barometer showed indications of the N.W. and squalls accompanied by heavy rain prevailed all day on Sunday and Monday. On Monday night the gale began about eleven, the wind being North. It worked round gradually to the East, then to the South, expending itself in heavy puffs about noon yesterday morning. The bar fell to 29.20.

It is clear that we have only been visited by the outer edge of this cyclone, and that a severe typhoon has passed to the S.E. of us. A Siam ship within four miles from the harbour had to cut away her masts. A steamer has been sent to tow her in. A coal boat sank with all hands but one not far from Fort William. Some houses were unroofed at Webster's bazaar, and the new Theatre has been levelled.

Poor Mr. Alfred's career has been brought to a close—his apparatus, chemicals and properties have been destroyed or injured to such an extent as to put an end to all further performances either here or anywhere else. He spent nearly as much upon the Theatre as the subscription list amounts to, so it may readily be supposed that his losses will be heavy.

We shall doubtless hear of many disasters outside. The water did not rise much or Bowring's Praya would have gone to the same place as all other interests ever confided to that shuffling adventurer's dirty digits.

FINE OLD HOUSES.
The following, taken from the advertisement columns, reveals the type of houses that stood on what is now a thickly populated area:—

TO LET.

A Dwelling House in Gage Street, containing twelve rooms and out-offices, etc. This House can be easily divided into two and has separate front as well as back entrances. There are three cellars in each house.

A Dwelling House in Hollywood Road, containing six rooms in the first, a spacious Hall and four chambers in the second story, with out Houses, etc.

In Staunton Street, a dwelling house consisting of six rooms, bath rooms, store rooms, servants' quarters and stable. Commands a good view of the Harbour.

A fine commodious house in Old Bailey Street, and commanding an excellent view of the Harbour.

TO LEAP INTO SPACE

Parachutist to Drop Six Miles

A young Englishman is to make a secret attempt on the world's parachute jump by leaping into space more than six miles above Salisbury Plain.

He plans to take photographs from all angles during his descent—showing the distant map of the earth, the clouds he is about to fall through, and even picture studies of the behaviour of his own parachute. It is believed that these will be the first pictures taken by a parachutist.

He will jump into 70 degrees of frost.

He is taking every possible precaution to train adequately for the cold and lack of air. He is making a number of practice jumps. He knows that there is the risk of his becoming unconscious before he is able to pull the rip cord which opens the parachute.

He is out to beat the record at present held by a woman, Frau Lola Schroter, near Kiel over a year ago, jumped from a height of nearly five miles. She landed in 28 minutes at a point 15 miles away from the aerodrome.

Previous records were held by the Rumanian, Brascu (18,000ft.), and the German, Georg Resch, of Wurzburg (15,000ft.).

The new challenger is a parachutist who has made more than 100 descents. He has spent months in preparations and has only just received the special Air Ministry permits needed.

"Well I have strength?" Here are his plans, and his observations, as given to the "Evening Standard" to-day:

"Because of the intense cold my body will be prepared before I enter the Airplane with grease, in the manner of a cross-Channel swimmer.

"I shall wear oxygen apparatus, because of the rarefied air—a man gasps at 17,000 feet, but at 35,000 feet he could not live without mechanical aid.

"My pilot will need similar equipment.

"One danger is that the physical exertion needed to get out of the machine in atmospheric circumstances that allow a man only to make a movement at intervals may so exhaust me that after the final leap I shall have no strength left to pull the rip cord.

MARINE COURT CASE

Unlawful Dredging In Harbour

Kwok Tai Kan, a Chinese boatman, appeared before Commander Newell at the Marine Court yesterday, charged with unlawfully dredging outside Causeway Bay of the Victoria on last Sunday.

Defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

LAUGHTON AS HENRY VIII

Brilliant Production

Mr. Tyrone Guthrie's production of "King Henry VIII" at Sadler's Wells last night will go down as one of the most notable of Shakespearean shows. There were signs of a lively intelligence behind every scene and every line.

I chuckled again at the hot pace set by Mr. Charles Laughton. His vigorous sketch of the King showed a monarch both passionate and shy. He drew the lines of his conception swiftly and boldly, and did not care if some went astray.

For contrast there was the moving dignity of Mr. Nicholas Hannen's Buckingham, saying farewell before entering the traitor's gate of the Tower. There was Mr. Robert Farquharson's Wolsey, a most interesting study. Here was not the conventional self-pity of a cunning fox found out, but a picture of a man horrified and aghast at the chasm before him, and then of a man who has learned a dreadful lesson.

Towering above all these was Miss Flora Robson as the broken-hearted queen. Her emotional manifestations have been much stopped down, but the emotion is certainly there. Her performance has gained immeasurably by this. Here was a study, moving, dignified and intelligent, which must long remain memorable.

Mr. Guthrie must be congratulated on his handling of the scenes. Every situation was approached with increasing intensity, until the moment of greatest emotional stress coincided with beautiful grouping.

Several of the smaller parts were very well played, particularly by Miss Athene Seyler and Miss Ursula Jeans.

London will miss a fine, intelligent show if the production is restricted to a short season at Sadler's Wells and the Old Vic.

SENT TO HOUSE OF DETENTION

Russian and Arabian Vagrants

Innokenty Verzhinsky, 17, was charged before Mr. Balfour yesterday with entering the Colony without a passport and with being a vagrant. He was committed to the House of Detention, and an expulsion order was made.

It was stated that the defendant came from Shanghai as a stowaway five days ago and was arrested outside the offices of the N.Y.K. on Saturday morning. He would be sent back to Shanghai in due course.

Youssef Ali, 32, an Arabian was also committed to the House of Detention. The man had voluntarily given himself up to the Police two days ago. His story was that he had stowed away on a ship from Calcutta and that the ship's captain made him work all the voyage. The ship was expected here in the near future, and according to the Police, if the defendant's story could be verified, the Captain would be liable to take the defendant back.

SEPOY IN TROUBLE

Convicted For Theft Of Watch.

When Jagat Singh of the Mounted Battery, R.A., appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday on a charge of larceny of a watch from a shop in 235, Shanghai Street, Kowloon, on Sunday afternoon, the Magistrate, after convicting the sepo, decided to give him the option of a fine in view of his good record, it being stated that he had a clean sheet for three years.

The complainant in the case, a foki, said that the defendant went into his shop on Sunday afternoon and asked to be shown a watch. About the same time another customer came into the shop and when his attention was turned, the sepo walked out with the watch. Two visitors at the shop saw this and they told him (witness) about it, and, running after the defendant, they caught him a few shops away and had him arrested.

The defendant pleaded not guilty but after he went into the box, he was fined $25 or one month in default.

IN THE

ROOF GARDEN, HONG KONG HOTEL,

ON FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8TH, 1933, at 5.45 p.m.

A CORDIAL INVITATION IS EXTENDED TO ALL.

Do you ever suffer from Headache, Cough, Cold, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout, Sore-throat, Toothache, or Asthma? If you do, will you allow us to solve the question of securing a cure, of course, a permanent one, and put an end to these dreadful enemies of humanity? Or do you like to be handicapped in society, in business or in your daily association with your strong, stout friends? For your own good, we would strongly advise you to have an open mind, and to make use of what you can call your true companion, instead of waiting for the time when you are attacked by disease, the youngest daughter of Mr. Fortune. When you are living and enjoying the gifts of nature, this unseen thief creeps into your system, and ruins you physically and mentally. Our preparation THE TIGER BALM, which has nothing to do with animal fat, or any injurious substance, will safeguard your interest. When you are in trouble, just pay a few copper coins, and the next moment you will find that this world of sorrow and pain is suddenly changed to one of peace and prosperity.

BATTLE TO A DEADLOCK

Borderers & Lincolns Play To Draw

The second team of the South Wales Borderers and the Lincolns played to a one all draw in a hockey match at the Chatham Road ground yesterday afternoon. The Borderers opened the scoring with a hard shot by Jones in the middle of the first half and the Lincolns did not retaliate till near the end of the second, when Snables sent in a fast drive from just inside the area. Although the Borderers had a slight edge on the play at the opening, the second period belonged to the Lincolns and it was chiefly the sterling work of Jones 39, for the Welshmen that saved defeat.

The teams were composed of:—
Borderers:—Flynn, Ronan, Mason, O'Brien, Morgan, Andrews, Datal, Jones 39, Jones, 49, Hinkley and Casey.
Lincolns:—Mayfield, Bentley, Dando, Wilkinson, Snables, Parker, Marshall, Toyn, Smith and A. N. Other.

WORKLESS RELIEF IN GERMANY

Generous Response To Herr Hitler's Appeal

Cologne, Nov. 27.
The sum of 75,000,000 Reichsmarks was raised to-day by voluntary subscription for unemployment relief in Germany, in response to Chancellor Adolf Hitler's recent appeal.
It is officially estimated that this will be doubled by the end of March. The money is to be used to create work during the winter's slackness.—Reuter.

Strength Through Joy

Berlin, Nov. 28.
A campaign for "strength through joy" was opened in Germany yesterday by Dr. Ley, chairman of the Committee for the Protection of German Labour. In his speech at the opening ceremony, Dr. Ley said that the machine implacably dominates men and there is no way of reducing hours of work. Therefore, the Nazi regime has started this new movement to soothe the nerves of the people by creating "diversions which will testify to the creative spirit of the people."

Hours could not be reduced and the 48-hour week had been imposed because of the heavy competition suffered by Germany under the pressure of her conquerors and, lately, of Japanese industry.—N.C.D. News.

Deceased passed away at the Country Hospital late Sunday morning after a short illness and his loss will be keenly felt by a host of friends, as he was well known and liked for his kindness and congenial disposition. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Helme Harris, and four children. The casket was carried to the graveside by Messrs. W. F. Harris, F. A. Harris, R. Grimshaw, G. E. O. Mayne, E. J. Berthel and R. A. ### WIRELESS LICENCES IN ENGLAND

B.B.C.'s Daily Audience Of Twenty Millions

London, Nov. 27.
The British Broadcasting Corporation Year Book, just issued, states that the total number of receiving-set licences issued in Great Britain and Northern Ireland is now 5,800,000.
It is calculated that the B.B.C. had a daily audience of about 20,000,000 persons. About 4,000 schools now take radio educational talks. As to the other end of the B.B.C.'s programmes, 900 hours yearly are given to variety.

Of the 10/- licence-fee, 5/6d. goes to the Government, the remainder being retained for the Corporation.—Wireless through Reuter.

NO TARIFF CHANGES CONTEMPLATED

London, Nov. 28.
Mr. L. Hore-Belisha, Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury, announced in the House of Commons yesterday that no change in silk duties is contemplated at present. British industrial interests recently asked that different treatment should be given Japanese and continental silks.—Havas.

SOVEREIGNTY BAR TO OFFICE

London, November 15.
It is worth noting that the sovereign, though he may be a Mason, ceases to have any but a courtesy connection with the craft as soon as he ascends the throne.
Thus King Edward, on his accession, ceased to be G.M., and conferred himself with being a patron. His office was taken by the Duke of Connaught, who has held it till to-day.

Five of the nine sons of George III. were Masons, in addition to the future George IV. The Duke of Clarence, afterwards William IV, was initiated, as befitted a sailor, at Plymouth in 1788.
The present King was never initiated into the craft.

PILGRIMAGE TO SANCIAN ISLAND

Macao Pilgrims

Rt. Rev. Patricio Mendes, D.D., Vicar-General and Governor of the Diocese of Macao, is in charge of the arrangements for the Sanci-an Pilgrimage from Macao.

The ss Hai Ning of the Douglas Steamship Company's fleet, will leave Hong Kong on Saturday at 2 p.m., reaching Macao at 6 p.m. Macao pilgrims will leave the wharf at 5 p.m. on another steamer, and transfer to the Hai Ning outside the harbour. Because of her great size and draft, she cannot come into Macao harbour.

Very Reverend A. Moreas Sarmiento, Chanter of the Cathedral, will be Chaplain on the Hai Ning, and will preach in Portuguese immediately after dinner. He will lead the prayers to Saint Francis Xavier, and will have charge of the singing in Portuguese which may be directed by the students from the Seminary of San Jose, Macao.

A souvenir programme is being printed, containing the order of exercises for the Pilgrimage, words and music of some hymns in English and Chinese, and several prayers and the words of hymns in three languages.

Miss Nora Teresa Sponarowsky is actively engaged in helping the Maryknoll Fathers to complete the arrangements for the Macao pilgrimage.

The group of Portuguese Patrons are to be under the direction of Mr. Jack Braga, while the Chinese Patrons' list is headed by Mr. Francis X. Young.

The Priests committees are in charge of Reverend Father Ngan of St. Joseph's Seminary, who will direct the Chinese priests' group, and Rev. Gaston Revelard, S.J., who will be in charge of the foreign priests from Macao.

There will be priests from the several Macao churches, from the Salesian Fathers' Industrial School, and from the Jesuit Community, and from the Portuguese priests at the Seminary.

Some Sisters from the Convent of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary are to take part in the Pilgrimage, and a goodly number of reservations have been made by Portuguese and Chinese ladies of the Macao Community.

The change of steamers from the Svalde to the larger and more comfortable Hai Ning has met with cordial approval in Macao, and the indications are that a large number of pilgrims will be at the Macao Wharf at 5 p.m. on Saturday, December 9.

Now that the Saint Vincent de Paul Society Bazaar is over, the Hong Kong Sponsors and Committees are being formed to take charge of the many passengers from Hong Kong.

BRAKES ON AIRCRAFT

Important for Large Air Liners

At the recent session of the International Air Traffic Association in London, considerable interest was shown in the question of brakes for air liners. Many of the experts from the Continent took the opportunity, while in London, of inspecting the Palmer aircraft brake, which is used on the majority of aircraft manufactured for the British Air Ministry.

Aircraft brakes generally take the form of an adaptation of the motor car shoe type. The Palmer brake is on an entirely different principle, this being a complete circle of friction blocks mounted on a flexible tube which can be inflated by either air or oil pressure, thus forcing the blocks outwards against the brake drum mounted in the wheel.

Various methods of control are available, either by pedals mounted on the rudder bar and operating hydraulically, or by a twist grip made integral with the top of the control column, while differential braking for directional control on the ground is obtained by normal operation of the rudder bar.

This type enables a pilot to have complete control of braking without having to release his hands from either the throttle or control column.

Some of the advantages to be obtained are that machines can be accurately manoeuvred on the ground by the pilot, thus obviating the necessity for outside assistance; also the engine can be "run up" prior to take off, without the use of "chock" while landing runs can be reduced by 50 per cent., which enables machines to operate from very much smaller spaces.

"SEEING IS BELIEVING"

Shock For Poor Canton Woman

Here is a story connected with the recent runs on the native banks, related to the writer by a reliable source.

A rather wealthy Chinese woman in Canton had quite a considerable amount in one of the Chinese banks here and when she heard of the run, she wrote a friend, giving him authority to withdraw the money from the native bank and transfer it to the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank. Everything was done satisfactorily, but last week-end this good woman ought she would pay this friend of her's a visit, "just to make sure that her money was safe."

When she arrived in Hong Kong, however, she found that the friend had left for Macao, so she went herself to take a look at the Bank, but alas she went to the old site, and the shock she had when she saw just a pile of bricks and stones instead of that familiar old solid building was too much for her and she fainted!

It was not until after some trouble had been taken to bring the poor woman round that some kindly passers-by were able to convince her that the Hongkong Bank was as solid as ever, and that the few bricks and stones she saw were the first signs of the construction of what was to be one of the most up-to-date and finest buildings in the Far East.

ANTIMONY PRICE PUSHED UP

Hunan Marketing Cartel To Be Revived?

Washington, Nov. 27.
The recent strengthening in the price of antimony is due chiefly to the belief of speculators in New York and Shanghai that the Hunan Government is contemplating reviving the marketing cartel. It is also believed partly due to the depreciation of the American dollar.

The price of antimony, which was low and stable at 44 cents a lb., now averages six to 64 cents

THE GROWTH OF EMPIRE AIR TRAVEL

Striking Facts And Figures Of Imperial Airways

The continued growth of traffic on the Empire air-lines of Imperial Airways, is illustrated by fresh figures which have just become available.

During six months, from April to September this year, the passengers, mails, and freight carried on the routes to Egypt, India, Burma and Africa showed an all-round increase of 45.54 per cent, as compared with a similar period of 1932. The percentage increase in passengers was 43.92 per cent. in mails it was 48.18 per cent; and in freight 40.59 per cent.

By the air-mail to India, as revealed by the latest figures, appreciably more than 40,000 letters are now being air-borne weekly, while on the extension which was established recently across India, between Karachi and Calcutta, the loads in each direction are already averaging approximately 14,000 letters a week.

Statistics for the first six months of 1933 have become available in regard to air transport in South Africa. They show that, during this period, the total number of passengers by airway who disembarked in South Africa was more than 150 per cent. greater than in a corresponding period of 1932, while a number embarking on air journeys in South Africa was 250 per cent. higher than in the previous year.

During the same period of six months, so far as air-mails to and from South Africa were concerned, the inward and outward loads showed increases of from 130 to 160 per cent; while air freight to destinations throughout South Africa was 162 per cent higher.

S. Africa Air-minded

Indicating the growth of air-mindedness in South Africa are figures which relate to the traffic at the Germiston air-port, Johannesburg, where, at the present time, £30,000 is being spent on structural and other improvements. These figures show that during a recent period of four weeks the total of passengers in and out of the air-port was 160 per cent. greater than in a corresponding month of 1932, while the number of aircraft using the air-port has, just lately, shown an

OFFICIAL RESIDENCE FOR KOWLOON

A visitor to the Colony on crossing to Kowloon the other day enquired as to the nature of the building on the top of the hill. On being told that it was the Water Police Station he showed astonishment, remarking, "Why on earth does the Government use such a valuable piece of land for a Police Station?" It was a pertinent observation which has somehow or other escaped public notice—but then it is usually the stranger within the gate who notices most.

In the old days when Kowloon was undeveloped and when practically the whole of the foreign population of Kowloon was "quartered" in the vicinity of Tsim Sha Tsui, it was appropriate enough but now that Kowloon has advanced so considerably it is about time a change was made. The site on the hill is very fine with its outlook over the Harbour and it does seem a pity that no more appropriate use is being made of it.

We hear of Kowloon and its rapid development almost daily. More and more dwelling houses are being put up, and everywhere on the mainland, development appears to be the password. There are a multitude of shops and restaurants and even the number of theatres are increasing steadily. What is most important, however, is the spread of business in Kowloon, for not only are there motor garages, wharves and godowns and some of the biggest factories in the Colony, but the mainland also boasts the biggest hotel in the Colony and also a

Bank of its own. Realising this long felt need in the peninsula, the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation opened up a branch in the arcade of the Peninsula Hotel as far back as 1928 and this has proved to be a great help to Kowloonites, especially to the military stationed there, for it is quite often that the officers have to take a run to the Bank and the time saved in not having to cross the harbour means a great deal to them.

It will be seen, therefore, that in every direction Kowloon has grown and is increasing in importance day by day, which brings us back to the Water Police Station. Who is the senior official resident in Kowloon now? As far as we can see, the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, whose recent appointment to the post of Secretary for Chinese Affairs has met with the hearty approval of the Chinese community, holds the honour. But he lives right out in Tai Po. The next who comes to our mind is Mr. D. Burlingham, D.S.P. (Kowloon) resident in the Water Police Station. Surely, with Kowloon expanding as it is, one of the assistant Colonial Secretaries might be spared from the dizzy heights of the Peak to take up residence in Kowloon, just to prove to Kowloon residents that their little corner is not entirely forgotten so far as the officials are concerned. Or, if not one of the Secretaries, then why not a residence for the Kowloon Magistrate, thus insuring that a Senior Official is on the spot in any eventuality.

It would be hard to find a more appropriate site for the "Official Bungalow" than that on which now stands the Water Police Station, and the Police Station could be moved either to the present Kowloon Magistracy, or, as an alternative, perhaps a small section of the vast territory now occupied by the Railway might be handed over.

We are quite aware that suggestions come very easily to the armchair critic and that it is entirely another matter to put them into effect. But we trust, when the authorities next cast contemplative glances in the direction of Kowloon, they will notice how choice is that hill, and that one of their number will take a proprietary interest in it.

A NEW ALLOY

Perfect in Japan

Iwaki, Japan, November 20.
Tokyo.—After twenty-two years efforts Professor Takeo Kitazawa of Waseda University has successfully completed the process of combining steel and copper in a larger ratio than hitherto. The new alloy will find extensive use in the metallurgical industry and ordnance manufacture. Experiments show that the alloy is almost twice as strong as gun-metal, while the cost will be one-third.—Rengo Imperial Service.

FIGHT AGAINST CRIMINALS

New Laws Passed in Germany

Berlin, Nov. 29.
Germany has put the fight against habitual criminals on a modern basis in the new law promulgated to-day. Under its provisions dangerous enemies of society with long criminal records will undergo two distinct trials, the actual criminal proceedings being preceded by a hearing before a special "security court" in which medical experts will testify to the mental and physical conditions of the defendant and recommend social, as opposed to criminal, action to be taken.

Seven possibilities await the habitual criminals who undergo this new physical as well as mental investigation, which in cases of inherited defects will also include exhaustive blood tests:

(1) commitment to a sanatorium or asylum, (2) commitment to institutes for rehabilitation of alcoholics or reformatories, (3) commitment to a work-house, (4) ordinary imprisonment, (5) sterilization in case of the criminal being a dangerous breaker of moral laws, (6) disbarment from the practice of his profession, (7) banishment from the country.

The law specifies special warrant for hearing the malefactors before the "security court" and requires all defendants to have both legal and medical representations.—Transocean.

SIR S. HOARE HONOURED

"Progenitor Of A Reunited India"

Special Air-Mail Service

London, November 15.
Sir Hari Singh Gour, who has been for some years leader of the principal Opposition Party in the Legislative Assembly, gave a dinner to fellow delegates and members of the Joint Select Committee at Grosvenor House, Park Lane, on Wednesday to meet the Secretary of State for India and Lady Maud Hoare.

Sir Hari Singh Gour said that Sir Samuel Hoare had cast a spell upon all the delegates from India, and his name would go down to history as the progenitor of a reunited India; he was bringing British India and the India of the States together after generations of separation. Under his prolonged examination by the Joint Select Committee he had maintained a composure and self-mastery which had been linked with resourcefulness and a readiness to give and take even upon matters upon which one might have thought he would be adamant. They greatly admired the spirit of all-round fair play which he had shown.

Before leaving India he (the speaker) had said that the White Paper was rightly named because there was so little in it; but now he called it the Brown Paper because he found it was the product of close and careful study. The amount of thought which had been put into the White Paper could only be judged by those who examined it point by point and paid due regard to the dependence of its various parts upon each other.

Sir Samuel Hoare expressed his gratification that a leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Assembly should be entertaining that evening one who ought to represent, in the Opposition view, almost all the iniquities in the Opposition view, almost all the iniquities in the Indian Administration. If the precedent were followed they might next week find Mr. Lansbury similarly entertaining Mr. MacDonald. (Laughter and cheers.) As one who had been in Opposition during by far the greater part of the quarter of a century he had been in Parliament he appreciated the compliment paid him by one of the principal Opposition figures of the great sister assembly at Delhi and Simla.

He was sure that they in India and we here should show to the world in these days of changing conditions our adherence to the view that representative Parliamentary institutions were much better than those quick remedies of dictatorship which were being adopted in other directions. The existence of a strong Opposition was a vital feature of Parliamentary government. He believed it was always a mistake for an Opposition to abdicate and embark on a programme of non-cooperation. The Opposition should remain in Parliament and make their criticisms felt there—a far more effective way of promoting their aims than to make dramatic gestures of abdication.

With respect to his examination by the Joint Select Committee, he could say that he had done his best to put his views before his Indian friends. For his part he knew their minds much better than when they first came over to this country. They understood each other much better than before they met and had become very good friends with each other. The Aga Khan proposed the health of Sir Hari Singh Gour and Miss Gour.

ANOTHER CIVIL WAR IN CHINA

Gen. Tsai Leads Troops
Against Nanking

FORCES REPORTED TO BE MOVING ON E. RIVER

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Canton, December 4. The impending war between Fukien and Nanking started today, according to a cablegram from Fukien received by the local military authorities this morning.

General Tsai Ting Kai, Commander of the Nineteenth Route Army, is said to have issued a general mobilization order, and that he himself will lead an army to attack Chekiang. A portion of his battalion will invade Southern Chekiang. War on a gigantic scale is predicted to take place along the borders of Fukien, Chekiang and Kiangsi within a week.

In view of the outbreak of civil strife between Fukien and Nanking the Political Council of the South-West, yesterday, issued a circular letter to all the members of the Council asking them to attend an urgent meeting to-day in order to discuss the Fukien situation.

According to a report emanating from a military source, there is a fresh movement of troops in the East River region. The whole division under the command of General Li Chen Liang has been despatched to reinforce the troops under General Chang Sui Kwei at Swatow and Mui Yuen. The division under the command of General Chang Dat has been transferred from Shun Fung, in Southern Kiangsi to Welchow to take up garrison duties in that area.

In an interview with local Press representatives, a high military officer declared that the relative strength of sea, land and air forces of the Central Government are much superior to those in Fukien, but he stated that the 19th Route Army is a hard nut to crack and can put up strong resistance. However, he believed that aerial combat will play an important part in the present struggle.

NANKING SEEKS HELP FROM THE SOUTH

Nanking, December 4. The Government has decided to ask Ma Chao Chun, a C.E.C. member to accompany Chang Chi to the South. They will visit Hong Kong first, then Canton and Kwangsi to interview C.E.C. members in those places and urge them to go to Nanking for a plenary session on December 20.—Reuter.

BANK NOTES NOW AT PAR

Canton, December 4. Notes of the Provincial Bank and Municipal Bank are now circulating in the city at par value. The properties owned by the Municipal Bank were sold by auction yesterday and realised $40,000 value. The auction will be continued to-day.—Central Press.

DICTATORSHIP NOT WANTED

Canton, December 4. The Southwest C.E.C. and C.S.C. of the Kuomintang called a meeting yesterday in which over twenty members were present at the Political Council building. The most important discussion was the Fukien matter and the uniting of northern generals in order to overthrow the dictatorship if necessary in the next step. As the Southwest leaders have asked General Chen Min-shu and Lee Chi-shim to stop further rebel movements in Fukien and at the same time asked General Chiang Kai-shek and Mr. Wang Ching-wei to leave Nanking as expressed in a telegram the other day. Northern generals were quite agreed with the idea and they have decided to support the movement.—Central Press.

GERMAN POLICE FOR SHANGHAI

To Reorganise
Chinese Force

Berlin, December 4. It is stated that the former Socialist police chiefs of Berlin, Herr Weiss and Herr Czerninski, have arrived in China, having been summoned to Shanghai to reorganise the Chinese police.

Before leaving Paris, Herr Weiss wrote to a number of former collaborators in the Berlin police. Some, it is believed, have agreed to join him.—Reuter.

ENGINEER ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Demanding Money by Menaces from Crown

London, December 4. At the resumption of the case against Mr. Gordon Haddon, Mr. G. D. Roberts, opening on behalf of the Director of Public Prosecutions, said the proceedings were instituted with the greatest reluctance and only because it appeared clear the defendant intended to persist. The only meaning in the letters sent to the King was that unless money was paid the defendant would publish throughout the world that he was an illegitimate son of the late Duke of Clarence. It was not relevant to enquire into the truth or falsity of the allegation, but there was absolutely no evidence to support this assertion, as Haddon never produced a witness nor a document to support his claim. Defendant's solicitor undertook that Haddon would write no more letters or take the action threatened in his previous letters. Haddon was remanded till December 12. The Magistrate stating it was undesirable to grant bail.—Reuter.

[A message dated November 29, stated Mr. Clarence Guy Gordon Haddon, a consulting engineer who was recently in China, was arrested yesterday in London on a charge of demanding money by menaces from the Crown.]

MR. THOMAS' REPLY TO DE VALERA

Expected To Be Made Public To-day

London, Dec. 4. It is expected the Secretary for the Dominions, Mr. J. H. Thomas, will to-day despatch a reply to a note recently received from Mr. de Valera in which the latter is understood to have requested a statement as to the attitude of the United Kingdom Government towards the declaration of an Irish Republic. The contents of Mr. Thomas' communication are likely to be made public to-morrow, when in the House of Commons the Secretary for Dominions will reply to a question by a private member, Sir Alfred Knox, who will ask him "If he will take immediate steps to bring to the notice of natives of the Irish Free State, both in this country and the Free State, the disadvantages which they will suffer, both in status and in way of entering this country from a declaration of the Irish Free State as a republic."

In a House of Commons statement made last month Mr. Thomas declared that the three measures then before the Irish Free State Parliament conflicted with the Anglo-Irish Treaty of 1921, and emphasised the point that Mr. de Valera could not expect to have a Republic, and at the same time enjoy all advantages, both political and economic, of being a member of the British Empire. A special meeting of the Ca-

A £100,000,000 DAMAGE

Serious Fire In
Turkish Capital

Istanbul, Dec. 4. Damage estimated at a £100,000,000 and the destruction of 500,000 documents is likely to paralyse judicial work, sums up the havoc caused by the fire. A wide enquiry is proceeding to discover whether the fire was caused by arson.—Reuter.

London, December 4. A great fire has burnt down the old Istanbul Law Courts, which stood alongside the Santa Sophia Cathedral. It is feared that the very strong wind may cause the fire to extend.—Reuter.

Stambul, Dec. 4. The fire which broke out in the city yesterday is still raging. All the fire brigades available have been called to the scene but are unable to check the flames. The Law Court's archives have been lost. A high wind is fanning flames 200 feet high. The wonderful mosaics of the Cathedral of St. Sophia, which were only recently restored, and the famous Sultan Ahmed Mosque, are also threatened.—Reuter.

MORE UNREST IN FREE STATE

Telephone Wires Cut:
Roads Blocked

Dublin, Dec. 4. The town of Macroom, County Cork, was isolated by the cutting of telegraph and telephone wires and the blocking of roads when felled trees when Gen. O'Duffy addressed a meeting to-day. The police and military had to cut their way through the barricades to reach the town to preserve order.

It is anticipated the Government will take action against the Blue Shirts following their defiance of the ban on wearing false shirts by prominent blue shirts, notably Mr. Blythe, who was vice President and Minister of Finance in the Cosgrave Government.—Reuter.

POLITICAL CRISIS IN SPAIN

Leftist Determined
To Cause Trouble

Madrid, December 4. Rumours are current that the Spanish Cortes left wing party intend to provoke a rising to prevent the Cortes meeting on Friday. Whatever the result of the "Repeat" elections, the political situation is most obscure.

There is a movement afoot to provoke an immediate crisis in the Cabinet and the immediate dissolution of the Cortes is considered possible in view of the fact that the majority of the Deputies are avowed Monarchists, seeking restoration.

The Republicans are proclaiming the need for new elections controlled by the United Republic, can Front.

The victory has placed the Right Party in the strongest position, and they will probably stick to nothing to undo the anti-Church legislation, especially the Laical schooling, and to restore the confiscated estates.—Reuter.

STATE OF "PREVENTION"

Madrid, Later. A state of "prevention" has been declared throughout Spain to enable the Government to meet any outbreak or any attempt to provoke outbreaks to-day.—Reuter.

It is considered that the Democratic regime is doomed, despite the efforts at unity made by the Republican Centre Party. The country is passing through one of the most critical situations in its history.

Ninety-five seats still remained to be filled at the second ballot yesterday.—Reuter.

Polling began throughout Spain on November 9 to elect 490 Deputies for the Second Cortes and, though confusion still existed on November 21 in regard to the election results, the estimate of the state of the chief Parties was given as follows:—

Right	100 seats.
Radicals	56 seats.
Monarchists	20 seats.
Socialists	21 seats.—Reuter.

NUNS STONED

Madrid, December 4. Several nuns were stoned and beaten by extremists in some districts of the city when they voted in the second election ballot yesterday, having their veils torn off.

The nuns had been advised by the authorities to vote late, in order to avoid the crowds, but few electors got up early to vote and the nuns arrived at the polls during the busiest period of the day.

Strong police precautions prevented serious disorders.—Reuter.

QUESTIONABLE TACTICS

Madrid, Nov. 29. The Barrios Ministry was almost broken up to-day owing to the resignation of Radical-Socialist Minister of Justice Senor Botella Asensi, but as President Zamora is anxious to avoid a ministerial crisis before next Sunday's run-off elections the breach was hurriedly closed by Minister of Education Senor Barones taking over the Ministry of Justice.

The motive of Asensi's resignation appears to have been disapproval of the proposed sporadic electoral alliances between the Radical-Socialists and the Right wing groups.

The newspaper "El Socialista" asserts that Asensi protested against the "questionable election tactics of certain political parties" and strongly advocated the annulment of the elections of November 19, reconvening the constituent Cortes which was dissolved prior to the last elections.

His proposals are said to have found no favour with his colleagues and he consequently announced his resignation in the course of to-day's Cabinet Council.

According to reports from other sources, Foreign Minister Albornoz, Labour Minister Plazunier and Minister of the Marine Romero had also threatened to resign but were finally prevailed upon to stick to their posts.—Transocean.

King Of Italy Receives Russian Foreign Commissar

Rome, December 4. The King received M. Litvinoff this morning and conversed with him for fifteen minutes.

Though it is unofficially confirmed, it is believed Japan was discussed with Mussolini yesterday. M. Litvinoff referred to Russia's fears of Japanese imperialism in the Far East. Sig. Mussolini had previously not disclosed his attitude towards Japan, except with reference to her growing economic strength.

During the fortnight prior to M. Litvinoff's arrival the Italian Press, whether by coincidence or design, was filled with articles pointing a warning finger at Japan's commercial menace in Europe whom it urged to unite to meet it.—Reuter.

ALL IMPORTANT SUBJECTS DISCUSSED

Rome, December 4. A communique issued after the conversations between the Italian Premier, Signor Mussolini, and the Soviet Foreign Commissar, M. Maxim Litvinoff, yesterday, indicates that all the questions likely to disturb world peace were discussed.

It is ascertained that there was a complete identity of views between Italy and Russia on international questions, which will doubtless result in close diplomatic co-operation. Conciliation was the main theme.

It is learned that a determined effort is likely to be made to improve the strained Russian-German relations in connection with which Signor Mussolini will use his influence with Chancellor Hitler.

It is pointed out that Russia is anxious to be on good terms with Germany who, with big interests in Russia, is likely to respond promptly, and it is hoped eventually to culminate a Russian-German Pact of non-aggression similar to the Pacts between Russia and her neighbours.

A FIVE-POWER PACT. The way will then be clear for Russia to resume her former place in the concert of Europe and for a further attempt to bring Germany and France together. In connection with this, Russia and Italy, who are both on good terms with France, will act as intermediaries.

The next logical step is the extension of the Four Power Pact to a Five Power Pact, but speculation on this connection is premature.

It is believed that the Russian-Japanese relations were also discussed, but there is no indication that anything was decided in this connection. The phrasing of the Russian-

Italian Non-Aggression Pact contains a clause prohibiting either party from entering into commercial agreement which might prejudice the interests of the other; hence it is indicated that agreement between Russia and the United States contains no threat to Italian interests.

It is understood that M. Litvinoff has kept in close telephone touch with the Soviet Dictator, M. J. V. Stalin, and that M. Litvinoff is believed that to be well satisfied with the results.—Reuter.

TO MAINTAIN WORLD PEACE

Rome, Nov. 29. Foreign Press reports to the effect that Benito Mussolini is striving to form a group of seven Powers to assure the maintenance of world peace are characterized here as lacking any foundation.

Although Il Duce is known to favour the reorganisation of the League of Nations so as to include the United States of America and the Soviet-Union as well as Germany and Japan, his initiative in this respect is not considered as promising any success at the present moment.—Transocean.

U.S. EXPORTS TO RUSSIA

Special Facilities To Be Organised

New York, Dec. 4. Representations have been made to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in connection with the creation of a bank to finance American exports to Russia.

According to the Journal of Commerce the scheme contemplates the creating of a fund of $100,000,000 to be subscribed by exporters interested in Soviet trade to which the R.F.C. is asked to contribute on a dollar for dollar basis.—Reuter.

MORE EMPLOYED IN AMERICA

Washington, Dec. 4. Mr. Ickes estimates that 3,000,000 people were reemployed on public works between Oct. 5 and Nov. 5.—Reuter.

HOME FOOTBALL

Keeping In Touch With The Players

Liverpool were the only First Division side to have scored in every match when they lined up for their home game yesterday against Leeds.

No member of the present Leeds team has seen professional service with any other League club. How many clubs can say the same?

Darlington supporters will have to be careful when they are rallying on their new left-half, Connaboy. It may easily develop into a cry of "Attaboy."

Rhyl footballers appear to be fated. In the space of a few weeks Chambers, the Rhyl centre-forward, and Allen, the Rhyl Vics centre-half, have broken their legs.

When Leicester played Derby County last week, we wonder if Jack Bowman reminded Digby Maw of the time when he went to a village team (Brigg, Lincs.) and was refused a trial.

The respective scorers in the Cardiff and Swansea Welsh League match were Morgan and Jones on the one side, and Jones and Morgan on the other. Quite a family affair whatever.

Whilst Manchester United are combining the country for experience forwards, Bolton and Millwall have been weighing the capabilities of Heywood, their own particular outside-right.

Some queer articles are left or lost by spectators at football matches. At the Leeds ground a gentleman's leather wallet containing a much-used powder-puff was found in the grandstand.

At a game at Jarrow last season an unemployed "fan" devoid of funds was so anxious to see the match that he left his false teeth as security until he got his "dole." The funny part is that they have not yet been reclaimed!

Always on Trial—How is this for a record? John Grogan, the nineteen-year-old Scottish youngster who signed recently for Leicester, has played trials for Partick, St. Mirren, Port Glasgow, Glasgow Celtic, Hibernians, Motherwell, and signed as a player for St. Anthony's and Shawfield Juniors.

The Irony Of It—Although Lancaster Town have scored seven goals in eight West Lancashire League matches, they have yet to register their first win. Last week-end they scored four against Fleetwood; but even that number was not enough, for Fleetwood also scored four times and forced a draw.

There's Nothing Doing—Even with the Arsenal's cheque for Dunne in their pockets the Sheffield United directors are experiencing difficulties in obtaining the transfers of "ready-made" players. During the week they have made overtures to Leicester, Hull and Huddersfield, but Leicester say they are not parting with Chandler, Hull asked a colossal figure for Tom Gardiner, whilst Huddersfield would not part with Roughton for any price.

Off To Huddersfield—Negotiations for the transfer of Seagrave, the Southampton right back, to Huddersfield are proceeding. Should the deal go through it will leave a gap in the Sandgrounders' defence, but only temporarily, for Mr. Commis, the manager states he has a smart young back at his call quite up to Third Division standard. Seagrave, who joined Southampton from Grimsby three years ago, was originally a forward. He became a half, and a season later found his true position at right back.

Liverpool's Luck—Liverpool folk are beginning to think that they have the smartest right wing in the country in Berry Nieuwenhuys and Gordon Hodgson Nivvy, of course, made a startling bow to football when he arrived from South Africa and justified all that his sponsors said about him. Hodgson, too, seems to have found his best form since he linked up with his compatriot. Just now Hodgson is not far from being the best inside-right in the country. Several First League defenders have received the shock of their lives when they have been in opposition to this redoubtable pair of South Africans.

Money Well Spent—Sheffield United consider that running a "nursery" team is money well spent. Their greatest "discoveries" up-to-date is Ernest Jackson, a right half-back, who has taken over First Division football like a duck takes water. Jackson, had, previous to joining Sheffield United, played a month's trial with Grimsby, and had also been given a run by Sheffield Wednesday, but neither club was impressed. The United gave him a season with the "A" team and he is now that first choice for the right-half position.

Found By Mansfield—Mansfield's main feeding centre from the adjacent colliery area has been the Shirebrook club—one-time members of the Midland League. That club has sent out some good men in the past—but in the opinion of Mansfield supporters it has just provided its best ever. Six months ago Williams, goalkeeper, and Ashley, right-back, were playing there in the Derbyshire League. Mansfield picked them up without fee from under the very noses of Manchester United and Hull. Mr. Jack Hickling, Mansfield's manager says: "If there is a better goalkeeper in the Northern Section tell me about him. I shall be saying the same thing about Ashley soon." Ashley has displaced England, the former Sunderland and West Ham back, who has a slight foot injury.

Prosser, Ebbw Vale's centre-half, is almost certain to follow former colleagues to London.

Harry Goodwin, the ex-Portsmouth and Reading winger is averaging a goal a match for Worcester this season.

Cardiff have informed Queen's Park Rangers that Leslie Jones (inside-left) is not for transfer at present.

Allan, the former Sunderland and Reading pivot, is pleasing the Scottish "fans" by his clever displays with Queen of the South.

Elsha Scott says he is going to keep goal until his son is ready to take his place. Liverpool and Ireland hope the son will be as capable as the father.

Hadfield, the Manchester City reserve centre-forward, has yet to play in the first League game, yet already inquiries have been made about this young stalwart at Maine-rd.

A club which exists on transfer fees is Washington Colliery, the famous North-East nursery. When recently asked how the "gates" were going, the secretary said they might as well be closed!

The Northfleet United attack has been strengthened by the return of Aequoroff, the Spurs reserve centre-forward, who is one of the Beau Brummell's of modern football.

After satisfying themselves that the stamp on Higginbottom, the Matlock forward, was A1 and his method of getting goals O.K., the Derby officials have asked his club, "What about it?"

Birmingham broke the ice respecting Boyd, the Clyde centre-forward, but they say the price asked will have to shrink before they will feel justified in coaxing up any degree of enthusiasm.

Although they have scored 334 League goals between them, Morris (Clapton Orient) Tom Kettle (Lincoln) and until lately, Harry Johnson (Mansfield) were only deputies with their respective clubs.

A year ago Stockport could have obtained a four-figure fee for J. Griffiths, their centre-forward, who was scoring prolifically then. The County, however, missed their cue and now Griffiths had gone to Wellington Town for nothing.

It was not through any lapse of form that Archie Gorman had to hand over the Plymouth right-half berth to Norman Mackay at Hull. Sheffield United were anxious to run the tape over the latter, but so far no move has been announced.

It is not unlikely that the next week or two will see another Plymouth player, if not a couple, joining their old club-mate, Alex Hardie, at Exeter. Manager Billy McDevitt has again been taking a keen interest in some of the Home Park surplus stock.

Why This Threesome?—Mr. Arthur Kingscote and A. G. Hines, local body, are being asked to find out members of the F.A. governing why Nottingham and Derby are boycotted in the matter of international matches.

A "Roving" Forward—Best, the new centre-forward of Darlington, has played in America and Switzerland and also for Leeds, Clapton Orient and Newcastle. He claims to be a "roving" forward, as he can play in any position. Bit Of A Difference—Heard about Alec Jackson's latest club? He's just signed on for St. Martin's

RUGBY

Army v. Navy

The following will represent the ARMY against the NAVY at Sookunpoo on Tuesday, December 5th. Kick off 4.00 p.m.
Lt. Birt (R.A.), Lt. Rossier (Lt. Colons), Lt. Galletty (S.W.B.), Pte. Simmonds (S.W.B.), Lt. Martin (S.W.B.), L/Cpl. Hewitt (S.W.B.), Lt. Walker (R.E.), Cpl. Suter (S.W.B.), Lt. Hebert (R.A.), L/Cpl. Hardy (S.W.B.), Pte. Gilmore (S.W.B.), Pte. Lloyd (S.W.B.), Lt. Metcalfe (R.A.), Pte. Jones (S.W.B.), Pte. Walters (S.W.B.), Reserves, Lt. Wilson (Lincolns), Sgt. Gould, (S.W.B.), Cpt. Chcken (Lincolns), L/Cpl. Brigh (S.W.B.), Cmp. Hubbard (R.A.).
Referee—Lieut. Comdr. H. W. V. Stephenson, R.N.

Lane Chelsea F.C. He's due to turn out for them at Eitham today. That must be a bit of a drop from First League football, mustn't it?

"Seven And Eleven"—Young Evans, the eighteen-year-old centre-forward of Yeovil and Peters' Dorset League XI, has scored eleven goals in seven games in that competition, and he travelled as reserve to the Somerset eleven when they met Devon. He seems an ideal lad for a more important side to develop.

North East Falls—Three members of Northampton's Third Division side were born within ten miles of each other. They are Ossie Park (centre-half) and Charlie Allan (left back) natives of Darlington, and Tom Crilly (right back), who first saw the light of day at Stockton-on-Tees.

Wolves' Warm Work.—The Wolves certainly queered the pitch for several League clubs when they invited Moorhouse, a centre-half, and Warnes, an inside forward, to play a month's trial. Moorhouse is a powerfully built player who was strongly fancied by Hull.

Ercher—The ludicrous spectacle of Queen's Park Strollers strolling through Perth station in football kit and bowler hats was witnessed last week! Forced to change in the train through shortage of time for their match with St. Johnstone "A," the amateurs walked "en deshabille" to their conveyances, to the amusement of the bystanders and the open decision of the town urinals.

Doncaster's Hopes.—Although Chesterfield are running away with the Northern Section championship, Doncaster are cherishing the hope that they may be able to pip the neighbours and that is the reason why the Yorkshire club refuse to part with their goal-scoring centre-forward, Dodds, Leicester and Sheffield United have both made overtures for his transfer, but the Rovers have other ideas.

Figures That Shout—Look at these figures: Sheffield Wednesday v. Chelsea at Hillsboro, attendance 10,830; Rotherham v. Chesterfield, attendance 13,580. What a contrast! And doesn't it tell its own story—the story of success breeding success in the case of the Northern Section leaders and the fading out of enthusiasm on the part of Sheffield fans just because Wednesday have struck a bad patch? It would be interesting to trace how many of the latter skilled over to Rotherham, near by, to see what they expected to be better sport.

Preston In A Hurry.—Within half an hour of receiving notification that their young reserve right-back, Edward Owens, had been detained at the local infirmary with suspected appendicitis, Preston were "burning up the telephone wires" to secure a substitute. Later in the day the secretary dashed over to Liverpool and signed Edwin Common, an Everton utility back. Common, who has been at Goodison Park for the past five years, first attracted North End's attention 12 months ago. Owens' illness, and the transfer to Barrow earlier in the week of Simpson, left Preston with only three backs of experience, hence the frantic rush to secure Common.

Play up the Rainbow! A comic opera situation was provided in a match between Milton and Harpole, who Northants village teams, last Saturday. When the referee came out to start the game, he found that both sides were wearing white shirts so he promptly dispatched several youngsters to canvass the village of Milton for 10 shirts of a colour other than white. In the meantime the game was begun with Harpole wearing sashes of multi-coloured scarves, mufflers and neck ties. After about 15 minutes, the youngsters returned with their collection of shirts. And what a collection! Every colour in the rainbow was represented.

BLACKPOOL'S ELEVENTH.—There are quite a dramatic touch about the signing by Blackpool of Peter Dermott, Doherty, the Glenoraan inside forward. A Blackpool director, on holiday in Ireland, saw Doherty play, and

INTERPORT
SOCCERSelection Committee Appointed

At yesterday's meeting of the Hong Kong Football Council, among other matters, the question of appointing a Selection Committee to pick a team to visit Shanghai for the Interport game on Chinese New Year's Day was brought up, and the following were appointed: Messrs. F. James (convenor), H. D. Tollinson, A. Goldenberg, and H. K. Lee. The Committee are to have power to co-opt any other person they may desire.

It was also decided that a charity match be played on New Year's Day between the Chinese and the Rest of the Colony, the proceeds to go towards the Children's Playgrounds Fund. The Interport selectors will arrange this match.

following his report, the Seaside secured an option on the player to last fourteen days. This expired at midnight on Wednesday, the day of the semi-final for the Irish Gold Cup between Glenfortran and Belfast Celtic. Representatives of Huddersfield, Everton and Liverpool were present at the match, but so, too, was Mr. Alex. Macfarlane, the Blackpool manager, who was running the final race over the Irish international race. Doherty did not score, but he played a fine constructive game and within an hour of the final whistle Mr. Macfarlane had got his signature.

Doherty is the eleventh new player to sign for Blackpool in the same number of weeks, the expenditure, strangely enough, being £11,000.

Lincoln's Fancy.—Lincoln have developed quite a fancy for L. Frith, an inside-forward of Huddersfield, a Derbyshire junior club. Frith, however, has been under the observations of both Bradford City and Manchester United, and it is probable that the Yorkshire club will complete the deal.

A Double Hundred.—When Jack Bruton, the Blackburn right wing, found the net in the game against the Wolves last week-end, he received an unusually loud cheer, and overwhelming congratulations from colleagues and opponents alike. This occasion, you see, was rather unique. It was Jack's hundredth successive match for the Rovers, and the goal he scored brought his tally also to one hundred.

RUGGER

Navy Again Vanquish Club

(BY "FORWARD")

On Saturday the Navy again proved themselves the premier rugger side in the Colony when they beat the Club by four goals to a dropped goal and a try (27 points) to nil.

Although outweighted in the scrums the Club forwards again gave a good account of themselves and with their back division combining better showed an improvement on their previous displays.

The Navy, however, played magnificently, the resolute running and splendid backing up of their outsiders being a feature of the game.

Two tries were scored in the first half by Curry and Slater respectively, Linton converting both.

Shortly after the commencement of the second half Miers dropped a beautiful goal from a scrum right in front of the Club's goal posts, Miers followed this up with a good try which Linton narrowly missed converting.

The Club pressed but could not score and a good Navy movement resulted in Slater scoring when Darley passed on being tackled. Buckley converted.

Miers was again dangerous and was tackled almost on the line. The ball went loose and St. Clair Ford dribbled over to score next to the post. Buckley again converted.

This was the final scoring, the whistle sounding soon afterwards. "Capt. Gottwald" refereed and lined up the following sides: Club—J. P. Whitham; J. J. Ferguson, W. H. Riggs, R. H. Griffiths, G. P. Lammert; M. W. Turner and J. A. R. Selby (Captain); G. A. Stewart, I. H. Bradford, E. P. Walkden, F. R. Burch, D. A. Cumming, K. A. Munro, H. A. Browning, D. McLellan.

Navy—Lt. Buckley (Medway); Lt. St. Clair Ford (Medway); Lt. Slater (Eagle), Mid Darley (Suffolk); Lt. Curry (Medway); Lt. Miers (Medway); Lt. Forbes (Medway) (Capt.); Comdr. Roome (Medway); Lt. Linton (Medway); Lt. Evans (Suffolk); Lt. Nixon (Suffolk); Lt. Suther (Cumberland); Lt. Brown (H.M.S. Cumberland); Lt. Whitfield (H.M.S. Falkmouth) and L. C. Pascoe (Berwick).

NAVY TO MEET BORDERERS

The Navy fifteen and the team from the South Wales Borderers are scheduled to meet this afternoon in a rugby match at the Sookunpoo ground. Judging from previous performances it looks bad for the Welshmen for the Navy have a very powerful back that works beautifully in the loose. The Borderers, however, despite the rule of averages, are confident of making up for their last defeat and whatever happens the game is bound to be full of clean hard rugger from beginning to end.

PROBABLE SHIPBUILDING
REVIVAL IN 1934

Distinct Improvement Shown

From a careful examination of relevant facts, there now seems little doubt, according to The Motor Ship, that a distinct improvement in shipbuilding will set in early in 1934. Whereas a year ago shipping of about 18,000,000 tons gross was laid up, to-day the figure is under 11,000,000 tons, and it is estimated that a year hence it will be no more than 8,000,000 tons, most of which will comprise ships of over 25 years' old, and therefore obsolete. It is considered therefore, that shipowners must contract for new tonnage if they wish to compete in the coming race which demands the use of the most efficient vessels.

It seems probable that two-thirds of the new ships will be motor vessels, since of the mercantile craft now under construction throughout the world 64 per cent in tonnage is to be propelled by oil engines and of the vessels which have been laid down during the past 12 months 64 per cent are motor ships.

Changing China

Autumn Quarter

A quarterly non-political review of life and conditions in China.

"... Changing China is an interesting and useful quarterly. The articles which it contains have been written in the form of letters by men and women of various ranks of life who are living in the interior of China. The reader gets a picture or rather a series of pictures of life in Modern China, and at the same time a resumé of the progress made in industrial development during the past quarter."

MORE TREES FOR KOWLOON

What Prince Edward Road Needs

(By Our Special Correspondent)

Which is the most "select" residential quarter at Kowloon? Opinion in this case is bound to vary for while there are some who would vote for Kowloon Tong, one feels that Homantin, Prince Edward Road and Chatter Road must have their host of supporters and for that reason, I shall refrain from casting my vote though I must admit I have a weakness for Prince Edward Road. Everytime I pass that way I have to "laze" along, spending quite a few minutes admiring the general lay-out of the place and as soon as I can get out of my lease, it will be Prince Edward Road for me.

The architects responsible for the design of the houses out there appear to have entered in an agreement that "modernism" is to be the keynote of everything there, and some of the smaller houses I have seen are the last word in all that is desirable. What makes the district all the more attractive is the fact that practically each house has its own little front garden while some of them have their "kitchen gardens" as well.

The road itself is all that one can wish for and in general appearance, Prince Edward Road is, not unlike one of two suburban towns out towards University Heights in Vancouver. The addition of a windmill or two, complete with ponds and ducks and swans swimming idly about would add a picturesque touch to the whole thing, but what with real estate owners wanting a return for every square inch of land, such a dream would be too tall an order.

There is one thing though that the authorities could do—and should do, and that is, to plant some trees on the side of the road. At present the place is pretty nearly bare of vegetation apart from the shrubs and plants in the gardens of the houses and a step like the one suggested would not only give the place a really pleasant suburban atmosphere, but it would also be better from a health point of view.

One would suggest that some peach blossoms, such as those in Statue Square would be ideal, but the Flame of the Forest would not be a bad substitute. Anyway the choice of the trees may safely be left to Mr. Green, the Forestry Department, but the thing is to let us have more trees.

LORDS DISCUSS POUND STERLING

And What Repayment
Promise on Bank
Notes Means

Special Air-Mail Service

London, November 15.
The appeal raising the question whether the owners of Preference stocks registered in England of an Australian company were entitled to have their dividends paid in sterling and not in the Australian pound was again before the House of Lords yesterday.

The Adelaide Electric Supply Company appealed from a judgment of the Court of Appeal in favour of the Prudential Assurance Company, Ltd., owners of £11,000 of A Preference stock and £30,000 of C Preference stock in the Adelaide Company.

Mr. Wilfrid Greene, K.C., in his speech, for the appellants, yesterday dealt with the meaning of sterling. Its first and oldest meaning was, he said, an English silver penny.

Lord Warrington.—At that time a pound was a pound of sterling.

POUND OF SILVER PENNIES.

Mr. Greene said originally a pound meant a pound weight of silver pennies. Subsequently a pound meant 240 pennies. Mr. Greene then read the definitions of sterling given in the latest Oxford Dictionary.

Lord Wright.—On our £1 Bank of England note there is a promise to pay the bearer £1. What does that exactly mean?

Mr. Greene.—If your Lordship adopted the view expressed by Lord Justice Roper, that would mean the Bank of England has promised to pay you a certain number of ounces of fine gold.

Lord Wright.—But there is an express statutory provision that you cannot get gold for these notes?

Mr. Greene.—You cannot get gold for them, but there is a promise to pay.

ANOTHER PIECE OF PAPER

Lord Tomlin.—It must mean that for this piece of paper you can get another piece of paper.

Lord Atkin.—The Bank does in fact promise to pay. It might pay you in silver coins.

Lord Wright.—Or give you two 10s. notes.

Sir William Jowitt, K.C., for the respondents, said he had seldom had to deal with a case that had occasioned him more difficulty than this one. He had to apply his mind not to an abstraction but to an abstraction concerning the science of economics, which was the most difficult combination one could have.

Lord Atkin.—Is it a science of an art?

Sir William Jowitt.—We will call it an art.

The hearing was adjourned.

In regard to the Austro-Bavarian frontier incident at Klobenstein, on August 13, a Mixed Boundary Commission has found that a German soldier was shot on German soil by an Austrian frontier guard.

Apologies to the Government have been conveyed to the German Minister and the guilty are to be punished.—Reuter.

while my husband carried on his studies. He even matriolated after his first baby was born.

Lady Stamp said that a wife should not be afraid to ask her husband tactfully to perform little services in the home. She would find that her husband would readily do this, and would then go off happily to the office conscious of a halo round his head.

(Laughter.)
Lady Stamp also had a word to say against those young wives who were continually running home to mother. Many marriages went wrong because the wife was continually running back to mother.

THE PRINCESS ROYAL

An Operation For Appendicitis

Special Air-Mail Service

London, November 15.
An operation for appendicitis was performed yesterday upon the Princess Royal at her home in Green Street, Mayfair.

The following bulletin was issued during the morning—

"The Princess Royal underwent an operation this morning for the removal of the appendix. Her Royal Highness is so far doing well."

"Crisp English.
Stanley Hewitt.
L. F. R. Knuthsen
Francis Shipway.
Dawson of Penn."

Lord Dawson of Penn called at Buckingham Palace after the operation to inform the King and Queen of the Princess's progress.

A second bulletin was issued last night in the following terms: "The Princess Royal has passed a fairly comfortable day, and her condition is satisfactory."

The Prince of Wales, speaking at the dinner of the Royal Society of Arts in London last night, said:

"The best news I can give you of my sister's condition is that, when I spoke on the telephone to the Earl of Harewood only half an hour before I left my house, he told me that he was going out to fulfil an engagement at a public dinner."

The Princess Royal, who had during the week-end cancelled engagements at Huddersfield on Monday and at Leeds yesterday, on medical advice, has not been in good health for several months.

Early in July she cancelled all her engagements owing to overstrain due to the many public duties she had carried out during the hot weather.

I am much disappointed at having to give up my visit to Leeds to-day to receive purses on behalf of the Leeds Babies Welfare Association, as I am deeply interested in the work of this association.

It is indeed kind of Lady Cunliffe-Lister to take my place at such short notice, and I hope you will have a very successful meeting."

The Princess returned to London recently and attended the Stock Exchange Amateur Drama-

LADY STAMP'S ADVICE TO YOUNG WIVES

Happiness in Marriage

London, Nov. 8.
Lady Stamp, wife of Sir Josiah Stamp, told an audience of City girls how to achieve the ideal marriage when she delivered a lunch-hour address at Wesley's Chapel, City-road, yesterday. Lady Stamp said that her own very happy marriage was "my only qualification for delivering such a lecture." She stressed the importance of being married in church.

"There is a tendency among young people to-day think that it is quite sufficient to go to a register office. To my mind, however, it is the religious ceremony which makes an admirable basis for a happy married life."

"It has been suggested at previous lectures in this course that wives should keep their men friends and husbands their women friends after marriage. That, I think, is a very wrong, dangerous piece of advice. I, for one, would not be content to have my husband going off to take some body else's wife out, and I am sure no decent husband would wish to do so."

"If a wife wants to be a real helpmate to her husband, she must be prepared for self-denial. Some young wives are never happy unless they are taken out to dances every night. I married when I was very young, and the first years of our married life were spent every evening at home."

The Society's performance of The Nelson Touch at the Scala Theatre on November 1. On Sunday with Lord Harewood, she dined with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace.

The following message from the Princess Royal was read yesterday at a meeting of the Leeds Babies Welfare Association:

"I am much disappointed at having to give up my visit to Leeds to-day to receive purses on behalf of the Leeds Babies Welfare Association, as I am deeply interested in the work of this association."

It is indeed kind of Lady Cunliffe-Lister to take my place at such short notice, and I hope you will have a very successful meeting."

TRADE FIGURES IMPROVING

Further Rise In Exports

Special Air-Mail Service

London, Nov. 15.

The October trade returns record a continuance of the revival in Great Britain's overseas trade.

Imports were £21,771,000, an increase of £1,004,000 over October last year; raw materials increased by £2,038,000, while foodstuffs, tobacco, and drink decreased by £2,739,000.

Imports of foreign manufactured goods were larger by £2,889,000 at a total of £14,187,000, but this is a very small increase compared with the preceding decline, for in the past two years there has been an enormous falling off in purchase of foreign manufactures. The present total of £14,187,000 is little more than half the figure on October, 1931, when the imports of these goods amounted to £27,249,000. This decrease in foreign manufactures, which is mainly the outcome of the tariff, has been accompanied by a rise in imports of raw materials from £11,907,000 to £15,027,000.

Coal and Cotton.

The export figures are distinctly encouraging. For October they amounted to £38,702,000, an increase of £4,569,000 over last year. Exports of British products were £3,891,000 larger at £34,151,000. Sales of British manufactured goods amounted to £28,076,000, an increase of £2,399,000. All the leading industries participated in the increase, including coal, iron, and steel, non-ferrous metals, cotton, wool, motor-cars, chemicals, and machinery. Exports of coal rose from 3,256,000 tons to 3,555,000 tons, and of cotton piece goods from 138,447,000 square yards to 155,602,000 square yards. Increases of exports to countries which have made trade arrangements with this country are notable features of the returns. The coal exports are less than in 1931, but the cotton exports are larger.

Re-exports rose from £3,893,000 to £4,571,000.

For the 10 months the imports amounted to £249,424,000, a decrease of £21,546,000 on last year. Exports of British produce and merchandise are actually larger than last year, the total being £302,527,000, against £301,545,000. Total exports, including re-exports, however, show a decrease of £165,000. Compared with 1931 imports are £152,567,000 less, while the drop in exports is only £24,651,000, and in British exports only £22,896,000.

ROYAL MAIL CO. MAKE LOSS

£9,000,000 Deficiency

A capital deficiency of £11,710,887 is revealed in the report for 1932 of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. issued last night. This is reduced to £9,011,382 by the transfer of the balance of reserve.

An even greater ultimate capital loss is foreshadowed by the directors, who point out that the deficiency merely represents such of the losses as can be assessed at the moment, and that it cannot be regarded as covering the whole of the losses, mainly in relation to investments and guarantees, which may result.

In particular, it is stated that the value of investments in five major subsidiaries, standing in the balance-sheet at £5,995,500, can only be a small portion of the book value.

The directors also point out that even the losses shown in the deficiency account, without taking into account the further shrinkage in the value of investments which cannot yet be estimated and losses which may mature in relation to guarantees, exceed the issued and paid-up Preference and Ordinary capital—£2,800,000—which must be regarded as lost.
